STATESBORO - The Georgia Southern women's swimming & diving team earned CSCAA Scholar All-America Team honors for the Fall 2018 semester, announced today by the coaches' organization.

The Eagles carried a 3.57 GPA during Fall 2019, ranking Georgia Southern tied for 23rd among the NCAA Division I institutions that qualified for the award, which requires teams to post a GPA of 3.0 or higher for the Fall Semester and maintain a roster of 12 or more student-athletes. In all, 173 women's DI programs earned the honor.

The 3.57 GPA was a program best for the Fall semester, and Georgia Southern has now earned CSCAA Scholar All-America Team honors for five straight semesters, and 12 out of the last 13 semesters dating back to 2012.
